Three things a landowner should NEVER do when selling timber:

---

- ▣ #1 - Never let the buyer decide which trees are going to be cut in your woods. That is your forester's job.
- ▣ #2 - Never sign a contract presented by a buyer.
- ▣ #3 - Never sell directly to one individual. Always take multiple bids on a predetermined / marked and inventoried SET of trees. Prospective buyers should all be bidding on the exact same trees

Examples of reasonable goals you can relay to your forester:

- ❑ You want to take out what needs to come out in order to maintain or improve the overall health of the woods and you want the woods to look better after the harvest.
- ❑ You want access trails usable for the long term.
- ❑ You want to have another sale in 15 years.
- ❑ You want to create some thick habitat for deer or other animals.
- ❑ You want to leave certain landmark trees just because you like them.
